CATCHMENT MANAGEMENT MANAGER

Salary £30,906 to £34,557

Based in Havant

We have a long record of providing safe drinking water to the population of Portsmouth and the surrounding areas. Through our catchment management strategy we protect and maintain the water quality working in partnership with organisations, including Natural England and the Environment Agency. To develop our strategy further an opportunity has arisen for a Catchment Management Manager.

The role will involve the management of a small team who will be responsible for the development and delivery of the Company's Catchment Management plan; therefore a good knowledge of water catchment issues and the ability to assess existing and gather new data is essential. Other responsibilities within the role include a proactive approach to H&S and some budgetary control.

The role will suit someone who has experience in dealing with managing staff and comfortable communicating with all levels of the business including external stakeholders. The successful applicant will be self-motivated with the ability to motivate, develop and manage their team in order to deliver a professional first class service in line with our values of Excellence, Integrity and Respect.

Ideally you will be educated to degree level in a Scientific or Agricultural discipline, (or equivalent experience of working on CM activities), be an excellent communicator, and have a valid driving licence. A recognised supervisory qualification or able to give a commitment to obtain such a qualification is an essential requirement for this role.

Applicants should send a CV outlining current salary with 2 referees.
