WATER QUALITY TECHNICIAN

Salary £19,233 to £22,023

Working in a busy and modern Water Quality Department currently undergoing UKAS accreditation, we are looking to recruit a Water Quality Technician to work in our laboratory. The laboratory ensures the highest standards of drinking water quality whilst working at all times in lines with our values of Excellence, Respect and Integrity alongside a pro-active approach and a good track record in H&S will be a pre-requisite for any applicant.

The role will involve a variety of duties covering both chemical and microbiological analysis, the sampling of water supplies along with general laboratory work such as solution and bottle preparation, method validation, calibration and maintenance of equipment.

The candidate must possess a minimum of 2 'A levels' in science related subjects and ideally experience in working in an ISO17025/ DWTS laboratory.

An enthusiastic approach along with an eagerness to learn and a full driving licence are essential requirements for the successful applicant.

Applicants should send a CV outlining current salary with 2 referees.
